Die-Cutting, Perfining, Scoring and Numbering

Colour accuracy and paper quality is a large part of the printing process, but the finishing details can make all the difference. That's why we encourage all our clients to pay careful attention to die-cutting, perfining, scoring and numbering. These features can really help elevate a product from good to great.

Die-Cutting, Perfining and Scoring

Die-cutting, perfining and scoring work together to add that extra level of polish to your projects. Die-cutting allows you to work beyond the standard rectangular dimensions for printing. Perfining and scoring allow for easier tearing and folding, ensuring that your project has those finishing touches that it deserves.

We have an inventory of standard dies and create custom dies as needed. While many companies outsource this part of production, at Rainbow, we can finish the job in-house.

Numbering

Have documents and forms that need to be tracked?

Keep your documents in order and easier to track with numbering. We are equipped to handle both large and small runs of numbered projects.
